CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. The highest Bidder to be the Buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more Bidders, the Lot so in dispute shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

2. The Purchasers to give their names and addresses, and to pay down a cash deposit, or the whole of the Purchase-money if required, in default of which the Lot or Lots so purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.

3. The Lots to be taken away at the Buyer's Expense and Risk upon the conclusion of the Sale, and the remainder of the Purchase-money to be absolutely paid or otherwise settled for to the satisfaction of the Auctioneer, on or before delivery ; in default of which the undersigned will not hold themselves responsible if the Lots be lost, stolen, damaged, or destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the Purchaser.

4. The sale of any article is not to be set aside on account of any error in the description, or imperfection. All articles are exposed for Public Exhibition one or more days, and are sold just as they are without recourse.

5. To prevent inaccuracy in delivery and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no Lot can, on any account, be removed during the sale.

6. Upon failure to comply with the above conditions, the money deposited in part payment shall be forfeited ; all Lots uncleared within two days from conclusion of sale shall be re-sold by public or private Sale, without further notice, and the deficiency (if any) attending such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulter at this Sale, together with all charges attending the same. This Condition is without prejudice to the right of the Auctioneers or Managers to enforce the contract made at this Sale, without such re-sale, if they think fit.

NOTE

THE American Art Association, in proceeding to sell at auction the late Charles A. Dana's collection of Oriental porcelains, takes occasion to observe that of the many collections that have been disposed of by the Association during the last fifteen years it is at once the broadest in its scope, the most comprehensive in its character, and the most important in intrinsic value. Perhaps the Association cannot better express itself in regard to the matter than by quoting some passages from a private letter received some time since.

"From the historical side of all these matters it seemed to me strange that the best collection I had seen should be in the hands of an amateur in New York. Of the three standard collections, national or nearly national in character, we have here that made by my lamented friend, Sir Wollaston Franks; the Louvre has the Grandidier endowment; and Dresden has the oldest of all, the Porzellan Sammlung of the Johanneum. I do not overlook Mr. George Salting's superb collection in the South Kensington, but it is still private property, and it has never pretended to an educational purpose. The others do, and their educational value is distinctly avowed and maintained. Now, that all three of these collections should, from a historical point of view, be distinctly inferior to a private collection made, as I assume, for individual ends and the gratification of good taste, impresses me as quite unusual and remarkable. Did it befall me to have imposed upon me the duty of delivering a lecture on the history of Chinese porcelain, there is no collection that would furnish me the essential examples and illustrations as fully as that of Mr. Dana. They are not in the British Museum; they are not in the Louvre; and they are conspicuously absent at Dresden. Let me suppose that I have to tell my hearers about the earliest dispersion of the porcelain of China to other countries, I should be able to show them some of it; and then the nature of the object itself, coupled with the locality in which it was found, should serve for scholarly conviction and a powerful aid to memory. Marco Polo and Ibn Batuta learned a great deal from their travels, but if we only had a few of the actual objects that they tell us of, how infinitely would not our knowledge of those objects be increased? Therefore, when we trace the first developments of trade and make old documents disclose that the Arabs many centuries ago invaded the remoter Eastern seas and carried back to the shores of India, to the Red Sea, and to the African coast, and to all the islands and continents that lie between, the products of China, it is mighty interesting to be able to put your hand on a piece of Chinese porcelain that somebody has dug up in Madagascar, or in Ceylon, or on the coast of Malabar, or on a spice island away down in the Malay Archipelago. That is precisely what I can do in the Dana Collection. There are specimens there of porcelain from all the places I have mentioned. Most of them were found by excavating graves and sites of former dwellings; and perhaps the most interesting thing in the study of porcelain is the identification of these pieces with those described in the various literature of China which deals with the remote history and manufacture of porcelain. Since Dr. Hirth of Leipzig and Dr. Bushell of Peking have taught us to translate Chinese better than the older scholars did, a new field of surer progress to knowledge has been opened before us, and the ancient porcelains of assured provenance have now an importance they did not possess before. For this reason I was, in my narrow way, quite carried away by my researches in New York; and I am persuaded that Mr. Dana must have had a most profound instinct in relation to the whole subject. Otherwise, how could he have sought, with such method and persistency, to acquire objects with which the ordinary amateur of porcelain does not concern himself at all, but which, from the scholar's point of view, are the most interesting objects there are? The whole range of the celadon that he gathered leaves no room to doubt the soundness of this belief. In all the other collections that I have seen it is not so wide. So that I hold that if one would learn Martabani, and it is the foundation of the whole history of porcelain, he must go to New York. And it is not alone in respect of celadon that this is true. Grandidier points with pardonable exultation to his clair de lunes, his gray and blue Sung bowls and jars. He has never seen Mr. Dana's. I must bring him over and show them to him."

85 VASE.

70.
Crackled gray celadon, with biscuit reserves containing inscription in various characters modelled in relief and glazed in white, blue, brown, yellow, and gray crackle. The inscription reads as follows :

Hai Wu T'ien Chou. "A tally added in the Ocean Dwelling" (a decoration often painted on porcelain is a temple standing in the sea, with a cylinder on the altar filled with tallies, towards which a stork is flying with another tally in its beak, figuring an additional span of life for the Taoist devotee).

(a.) Fu, "Happiness;" (b.) Shou, "Longevity."
Hua Feng San Chu. "The three blessings of Hua Feng!" (Mount Hua, a sacred mountain in China, from which spirits appeared to the ancient Emperor Yao, promising the threefold blessing of abundance of happiness, of longevity, and of sons.)

Mark, Pottery of Wu Chên-hsien. (Yao, originally "kiln," means, secondarily, the pottery produced in the kiln.)—Bushell.

296 BOWL.

The same as No. 288.

297 PLATE.

Elaborate decoration, in which a water festival is depicted ; a procession of brilliant barges, in the shape of dragons, moving among islands crowded with gayly dressed figures bearing banners and musical instruments. The whole very animated and brilliant in color ; the border and back present an elaborately wrought floral ornament on a ground of imperial yellow. Seal mark beneath of Chia-ching.

Diameter, 15 inches.

298 PLATE.

Imperial yellow ground, completely covered with an elaborate floral design in the opaque enamels of the Chia-ching period. Seal mark of that reign beneath.

Diameter, 15 inches.

299 PEAR-SHAPED VASE.

With flaring mouth ; decoration of a flowing vine in dark blue.

Height, 13½ inches.

300 TALL, SQUARE VASE.

With cylindrical neck and flaring mouth ; covered with a pale-green mottled vase, against which, on the four panels, are boldly drawn designs of flowers, foliage, and birds, each indicative of its season. Mark, a plum blossom underneath. Lang-Yao. Made during the prefecture of Lang.

Height, $21\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

301 SQUARE VASE.

Broadening to the shoulder ; with cylindrical neck ; each panel containing a superb decoration of flowers, birds, insects, foliage, rocks, and herbage, in the five transparent enamels of early K'ang-hsi, seen against a ground of imperial yellow. On the neck and shoulder a similar decoration on a green ground. Made during the prefecture of Lang.

Height, 18 inches.

302 SQUARE VASE.

Broadening slightly to the shoulder ; with cylindrical neck and flaring lip ; the whole invested with a rich black enamel, against which, on the several panels, are seen a superb decoration of plants, flowers, trees, and herbage in the transparent enamels of early K'ang-hsi. On each shoulder there is a Ling-chy among grasses, while isolated in the black field are butterflies and birds. Made during the prefecture of Lang.

Height, 20 inches.

303 TALL VASE.

With bold and beautifully drawn decoration of bamboo leaves, plum blossoms, and peonies in transparent enamels of K'ang-hsi.

Height, $17\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

304 LARGE JAR OR FISH BOWL.

Very fine

Of dense, heavy paste. The intricate design incised in the glaze represents various Buddhistic emblems within conventional borders of emblematic motive. On the body in the main field are birds and flowering plants, and beneath a formal border of geometrical motive, the whole executed with great strength as to design and ascetic simplicity of color. A unique example of the five-color (ou-tsai) decoration of the Ming dynasty.

Diameter, 14 inches.

305 TALL JAR.

With five-color decoration, depicting numerous personages figuring in a historical episode wherein the goddess vouchsafes an appearance, standing with her attendants on the whirling clouds to receive the petition of the devout. Gorgeous Fong-hoangs illuminate the sky with their plumage. The whole design is bold, free, and unconventional, and is executed in the five transparent enamels of K'ang-hsi.

Height, 20½ inches.

306 GARDEN SEAT.

A brilliant and finely executed decoration of the K'ang-hsi period.

Height, 14 inches.

307 BEAKER.

Five-colored chrysanthemum decoration. K'ang-hsi.

Height, 18 inches.

308 IMPERIAL YELLOW OVOID VASE.

Long neck and flaring mouth, with decoration of dragons pursuing the fire emblem through the sky above a troubled sea.

Height, 18 inches.

309 CYLINDRICAL VASE.

With wide neck and flaring mouth, bearing an elaborate decoration of historic personages in garments that bring into play the most brilliant enamels of the Kien-lung period.

Height, 17 inches.

310 OVOID EGGSHELL VASE.

Good
With wide mouth, and reserves bordered by blue and white ornament of birds and foliated shapes, each filled with the most elaborate drawings in muffle colors.

Height, 19 inches.

311 TALL VASE.

With dark-purple dragon handles. Circular reserves stand against a ground of turquoise. In each reserve is depicted a combat of green and yellow kylin. At the shoulder the white paste shows in a blue geometrical ornament. Ascribed to early sixteenth century.

Height, 23 inches.

312 FISH BOWL.

Covered with profuse ornament, modelled in the paste, and enclosing a boldly executed design of aquatic plants and birds, the whole invested with rich, five-colored enamels of early Ming.

Diameter, 14 inches.

313 VASE.

Elaborate decoration of an imperial function or historical episode, drawn with the utmost development of detail in the transparent enamels of K'ang-hsi.

Height, 21 inches.

314 VASE.

With dragons in relief on each side of a flaring neck, the whole invested in a dark purple-blue glaze of great heaviness and thickness, against which are seen chrysanthemums modelled in low relief and surrounded by a running vine-like leafage.

Height, 21 inches.

315 SLENDER VASE.

With flaring neck and foot. Decoration in transparent enamels.

Height, 17½ inches.

316 OVOID VASE.

With wide mouth. Elaborate decoration in transparent and opaque enamels of butterflies, flowers, fruit, and leafage on a richly diapered groundwork of gold. On the shoulder and at the rim and foot the border of rectangular fret encloses the field of decoration. The rim is gilt ; the neck is lined with pale-green enamel, which is repeated on the foot, where the seal mark of Kien-lung is inscribed in coral-red.

Height, 16 inches.

317 TALL, SLENDER VASE.

With brilliant decoration of landscape and figures in transparent enamels.

Height, 17 inches.

318 FISH BOWL.

With reticulated body sustaining ornamental designs of foliage, figures, and emblematic objects, the whole invested in rich unctuous enamels of the Ming dynasty.

Diameter, 14 inches.

319 STATUETTE OF THE GODDESS KWA-NIN.

The face and part of the robes in gilt, the hood and vestment in turquoise-blue enamel, bordered in purple-black and lined with yellow. She sits upon a rock, and at her feet is the sea. Ming.

Height, 21 inches.

320 LARGE JAR.

Groundwork of dark-purple enamel, against which are historic figures, horsemen in combat, floral and other ornament, all modelled in low relief, and invested with transparent enamels in green, yellow, and red. Ming.

Height, 15 inches.

321 VASE.

With cover. Turquoise-blue ground, with decoration of aquatic plants, birds, flowers, and various symbolic ornaments modelled in low relief and invested with transparent enamels of subdued colors. Ming.

Height, 18 inches.

322 TALL VASE.

Archaic form and decoration ; a groundwork of dark-purple enamel, against which are dragons pursuing fire emblems in the firmament. Profuse ornament of floral and geometrical motive, grotesque handles, and on the broad rim of the neck a border of geometrical fret. Ming.

Height, 23 inches.

323 TALL BEAKER.

Examine
The so-called black hawthorn pattern, invested with a heavy black enamel, against which, in relief, are the flowering branches of the Mei tree, the blossoms springing from the young green shoots; birds hovering amid the perfume, and below rocks and grasses, with lilies thrusting forth among them. Mark, a spray of Mei blossom on black enamel foot. Made in the prefecture of Lang.

Height, 28 inches.

324 QUADRILATERAL VASE.

Examine
The so-called black hawthorn pattern, with handles of Ling-chy, festooned with gold lacquer vine. The body of the vase is invested with rich black-green enamel,³ a black enamel which is superposed upon a brilliant green ground, which shines through it and illuminates it. Against this are the white reserves of the Mei blossoms, the purple gnarled stems, the green of the young shoots, and yellow-breasted and purple birds, the whole quite free in drawing, but of great mastery and power as color, composition, and form. The foot is pyramidal, presenting four green panels, dotted and starred with black enamel. Made in the prefecture of Lang.

Height, 22½ inches.

325 VASE.

With decoration of water whorls, in which fish are disporting. Old Hirado.

Height, 10 inches.

326 BOWL.

With silver cover, decoration of dragon, bamboo, tiger, and flowering plum. Old Hirado.

Diameter, 8 inches.

327 VASE.

Globular body, wide flaring neck, decoration of chrysanthemum pattern. Old Hirado.

Height, 11 inches.

328 VASE.

Globular body, with chimæra heads, wide neck, with flaring mouth and vertical rim; decoration of wave pattern, cloud forms, and flying storks. Old Hirado.

Height, 11 inches.

329 BLUE AND WHITE VASE.

With decoration of landscape, mountains, and various scenery.

Height, 15 inches.

330 BOWL.

With straight sides; old decorated Satsuma.

Diameter, 5 inches.

With incised decoration of flowers and leafage, beneath a pale viscous glaze.

Height, 7 inches.

341 SQUARE WHITE VASE.

With cylindrical neck, finely diapered and flat relief ornament throughout; rudimentary chimæra, holding rings on two sides, and bands of delicate geometrical ornament above and below.

Height, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

342 CYLINDRICAL SAKÉ JAR OR WINE CUP.

With two Kylins, forming respectively handle and spout, the paste of exceeding density and fineness, the whole being invested with a brilliant glaze of cream color.

Height, $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

343 WHITE PLATE.

Persian faience, with incised decoration of floral motive.

Diameter, $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

344 EGGSHELL BOWL.

Flat conical form, with six indentations in the rim. In the bottom, etched in the transparent paste in antique seal script, are the four characters, Yung-lo-nien-chi (1403-1424). The inscription can be deciphered with ease only in strong sunlight, when it becomes perfectly legible. These bowls are known as among the most remarkable survivals of the delicate and fragile porcelain described by the Ming historians, the great esteem in which they were held by the Chinese, alone explaining their continued existence.

Diameter, $7\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

345 BOWL.

Flat conical form, dense white paste and thin brilliant glaze, with elaborate incised decoration; beneath, in the bottom, the twin-fish emblem of conjugal happiness.

Diameter, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

346 SAUCER.

Eggshell porcelain, with intricate floral ornament embodied in the glaze. In the bottom the emblem Yang and Ying. Ascribable to the period of Yung-lo.

Diameter, 8 inches.

347 BOWL.

Brilliant white porcelain, with intricate decoration, most delicately drawn, with the point, in the body of the glaze. A dragon and a phoenix traverse the space above the open sea, amid fire emblems and cloud shapes, the whole invested with a brilliant, clear glaze, turning to a very faint gray in the linear depressions of the design.

Diameter, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

348 YUNG-LO EGGSHELL BOWL.

With profuse floral ornament embodied in the glaze.

Diameter, 8 inches.

349 PERSIAN PLATE.

With floral border and lavender glaze back.

Diameter, $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

350 BOWL.

Translucent white porcelain, with boldly drawn decoration of nelumbo and leafage embodied in the glaze. Metallic rim. May be referred to the period, approximately, of Yung-lo.

Diameter, 8 inches.

351 YUNG-LO EGGSHELL BOWL.

With delicate and profuse decoration embodied throughout the glaze, and at the bottom an antique seal script mark within a disk enclosed in geometrical ornament. Yung-lo-nien-chi (1403-1424).

Diameter, 8 inches.

352 BOWL.

With cylindrical foot and metallic rim. A grayish-white glaze of great delicacy, invested with a pale-brown crackle and color marking of harmonious tone.

Diameter, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

353 SMALL BOWL.

Old white, dense, kaolinic porcelain of early Ming, with a verse in cursive script incised within. The glaze hard, thin, and viscous, and pervaded by a faint pink blush.

Diameter, 6 inches.

354 FLATTENED BOWL.

With three feet and infolded lips. Undecorated Satsuma.

Diameter, 7 inches.

355 WHITE BEAKER.

With incised decoration of palm leaves and Buddhist symbols beneath a brilliant transparent glaze.

Height, 9 inches.

356 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

With reticulated body disclosing a cylinder within continuous from foot to neck. The glaze is of brilliant quality upon a body of dense, white, sonorous paste. The reticulation consists of a band of Swastika

(the ten thousand precious things, the all-pervading talisman of good augury) at the shoulder ; and beneath, an open floral network ground sustaining four of the Taoist symbols—the Fan of Chung-li-Ch'uan, the Pilgrim's Gourd of Li-T'ieh-kuai, the basket of Flowers of Lan-Ts'ai-ho, and the Bamboo Tube and Rods of Chang-kuo. Around the neck is a dragon in relief surrounded by five symbols above archaic border of ornament in relief. May be referred to reign of K'ang-hsi.

Height, 11 inches.

357 RICE-PATTERN BOWL.

The rice-grain design incised through the paste and filled in with translucent celadon glaze.

Diameter, 9 inches.

358 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

With bold and graceful decoration in relief on entire exterior. Brilliant white glaze.

Height, 13 inches.

359 BOWL.

Dense translucent paste, with finely drawn floral ornament in relief and thin celadon glaze. Indented rim with silver lip. Ming.

Diameter, 10 inches.

360 BOWL.

Diameter, 8 inches.

361 SLENDER OVOID VASE.

With spreading neck ; old Chinese white crackle on dense, heavy, kaolinic body. Early Ming.

Height, 13½ inches.

362 WHITE VASE.

With Kylin handles and reserves ; roughly incised design of landscape, and inscription in antique seal script.

Height, 14 inches.

363 VASE.

Of cylindrical form, with flaring neck and foot, and broad-ringed band in middle. Fine, close white crackle over dense, heavy kaolinic body.

Height, 14 inches.

364 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

Fine white crackled glaze, with silver mount at neck.

Height, 15 inches.

365 WHITE OVOID VASE.

With spreading neck. Underneath a brilliant transparent glaze an intricate diapered ornament incised in the paste.

Height, 16 inches.

366 VASE.

Bottle-shaped, with flaring mouth and brown biscuit rim and ring on shoulder. Very delicate incised floral motive filled with the light celadon glaze, which invests the whole exterior.

Height, 9 inches.

367 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

With wide neck and incised decoration of dragon and phoenix among fire symbols and cloud forms, filled with pale gray-green celadon glaze.

Height, 12½ inches.

368 TALL SLENDER VASE.

Old brown crackle on rich cream-colored glaze ; dense, heavy kaolinic body ; ascribed to the Yuen dynasty.

Height, 18 inches.

369 BOWL.

With broad flat base, and heavy rim with band about the middle of geometrical ornament ; body of dense, kaolinic paste. Yuen.

Diameter, 10 inches.

370 TALL CYLINDRICAL JAR.

Old gray and brown crackle, the body dense, kaolinic and sonorous.

Height, 22 inches.

371 FLAT BOWL.

With three feet ; clair de lune glaze within, the exterior ornamented with rows of bosses protruding through a superb covering of thick, rich purple and amethystine glaze.

Diameter, 9 inches.

372 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

With wide mouth ; covered with a rich mottled purple and violet glaze, of the quality known to the Chinese as Lo-fei, a term which implies intense lividity. Seal mark beneath, Yung-chêng.

Height, 13 inches.

373 PILGRIM BOTTLE.

Red soufflé, metallic luster of high quality.

Height, 11 inches.

374 DOUBLE GOURD, CELADON CRACKLE VASE.

Height, 14 inches.

375 PLATE PERSIAN FAIENCE.

Black tracery decoration, on lavender-blue glaze.

Diameter, 11 inches.

376 PLATE.

Five-colored decoration within, in enamels of the K'ang-hsi period ; without, a floral spray in coral-red, and four boys with toys. Mark beneath in six characters : Ta-Ming-Hsüan-te-nien-chi.

Diameter, 11 inches.

377 PLATE.

Powder blue, with beautifully drawn decoration in gold of a basket of flowers.

Diameter, 9 inches.

378 LARGE PLATE.

Dense, heavy kaolinic body, with pale celadon glaze over vigorously modelled design of two fishes and leaf border. Fine example of Lung-chuan of early Ming.

Diameter, 14 inches.

379 Another, with fluted ornament beneath the glaze.

Diameter, 13 inches.

380 Another, of the same design as No. 378, but deeper, and showing a more finished and masterly line in the drawing.

Diameter, 14 inches.

381 Another, with bold floral ornament beneath the glaze.

Diameter, 16 inches.

382 Another, with diaper pattern and rich graceful floral ornament, the glaze a pale green rich celadon.

Diameter, 19 inches.

- 383 Another, with fluted ornament and floral spray beneath a dense rich glaze.

Diameter, 15 inches.

All of these specimens of Lung-chuan-yao came from various regions more or less remote from China, whither they had been transported by caravans traversing Asia, or by the Arab sea traders plying between the Pacific, the Indian Ocean, and the Red Sea. All present strongly the characteristic ferruginous ring beneath the foot.

- 384 BROAD VASE.

Old Ming pottery. Cover with dentated and reflected edge, surmounted by a statuette of Cheou-lao seated on his deer, and his pet tortoise in front of him. Around the sides of the cover a festooned ornament sustaining swastika, and other symbols. The body is a boldly designed reticulation removed by over two inches from the inner or true vase. This reticulation is made to sustain various figures, a house with an open door from which a woman is looking at an approaching traveller, a great dignitary mounted on a horse, followed by his servants and a numerous retinue; the whole interspersed with floral and other ornament, and all invested with dark-purple, pale-green, and yellow enamels.

Height, 20 inches.

- 385 FISH BOWL.

With silver cloisonné rim at the neck and ditto dentated leaf design at foot. Spirited five-color decoration of fish swimming among aquatic plants. On the shoulder a border of radial geometrical ornament, and at the foot dentated leaf ornament of blue and white, which is sought to be reproduced in the cloisonné which encircles it. This bowl and its companion were widely known in China for many years as among the finest of the few surviving examples of the five-color decoration of the Ming period. They were made at King-te-chin in the reign of Chia-ching (1522-1566), the Nien-hao of which is written in blue on the foot of each.

Diameter, 17 inches.

- 386 Companion to the foregoing, but, unlike it, not needing reinforcement at either foot or neck. The red color, it will be noted, is missing, and all the enamels are in a quieter key.

Diameter, 17 inches.

- 387 TALL VASE.

With bold floral decoration and wide floral handles in relief, the design being in turquoise-blue and yellow crackle on a brilliant purple ground. Reproduction, in K'ang-hsi period, of Ming original.

Height, 32 inches.

- 388 Companion to the preceding.

- 389 VASE.

With cover. The surface completely invested with intricate arabesques of flowers and tendrils. Imari.

Height, 25 inches.

- 390 Companion to the preceding.

- 391 LARGE IMARI VASE.

Diameter, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

429 BOWL.

Blue and white porcelain, with rich coral-red glaze outside, covered with graceful floral ornament in gold; within, in blue, two boys riding a hobby-horse. The inscriptions on paper were written several years ago by the late Sir Wollaston Franks, of the British Museum. Since that time additional research would indicate that the bowl is the handiwork of the famous Yeiraku, whose pseudonym is found in the date-mark on the foot, which reads: Ta-Ming Yung-lo (Yeiraku) nien-chi. The coral enamel, too, is more suggestive of later Hizen than of remote Yung-lo. [See No. 458.]

464 VASE.

Ovoid with wide mouth, decoration in blue.

Height, 6 inches.

465 CYLINDRICAL VASE.

Decoration in blue of fruit and floral ornament.

Height, 5½ inches.

466 BOWL.

Pale tea glaze, brilliant floral and other decoration in transparent enamel. Six character mark, Chia-ching (1522-1566).

Diameter, 6 inches.

467 BOWL.

Brilliant blue glaze with rich floral decoration in gold. Mark, a circular inscription set about the square hole of a Chinese "cash," and reading Ch'ang-ming-fukuei, "Long life, riches and honor."

Diameter, 5 inches.

468 EGGSHELL SAUCER.

With graceful decoration of dragons and fire symbols embodied in the glaze; the decoration in pale transparent enamels belongs to a later period than the saucer itself. A verse in Chinese characters on the foot with seal mark.

Diameter, 18 inches.

469 COMPANION TO THE FOREGOING.

With a poem inscribed underneath in black enamel, and seal mark in coral red.

Diameter, 18 inches.

470 SAUCER.

Fluted pattern, pale green enamel ground, with reserves containing various ornament.

Diameter, 8 inches.

471 Companion to preceding.

472 OLD PERSIAN FAIENCE.

Gourd

With perforated decoration filled with glaze, and decorated boss in the middle.

Diameter, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

473 GOURD-SHAPED VASE.

Blue and white ; with graceful decoration of vine, with hanging gourds.

Height, 7 inches.

474 BOWL.

Brilliant red coral glaze, with bamboo leaves in reserve ; mark beneath in red coral of Kien-lung.

Diameter, 7 inches.

475 VASE.

Pistache-green enamel ground, sustaining dispersed sprays of flowers in transparent and opaque enamels of Kien-lung ; seal mark of Kien-lung.

Height, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

476 PILGRIM BOTTLE.

With beautifully drawn decoration in transparent enamels of the Kien-lung period. Six-character decoration about the lip, reading Ta-Ming-Chêng-hwa-nien-chi (1465-1488).

Height, 7 inches.

477 PILGRIM BOTTLE.

Yellow ground ; decoration of flowers and fruits in dark blue.

Height, $6\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

478 FLATTENED VASE.

With wide flaring neck, decoration of landscape in peach tint ; six-character mark : Ta-Ming-Hsüan-te-nien-chi (1426-1436).

479 VASE.

With opaque yellow glaze with incised diaper sustaining floral sprays in opaque and transparent enamel.

Height, $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

480 CYLINDRICAL VASE.

With wide mouth, and two reserves on blue fish-roe, or frog-spawn, glaze of dark blue, supporting beautifully modelled sprays, flowers, and insects ; each reserve contains a landscape in blue.

Height, 11 inches.

481 PILGRIM BOTTLE.

Decoration of flowers and leafage in five-color enamel.

Height, 9 inches.

482 CYLINDRICAL VASE.

With wide mouth, two white reserves on fish-roe, or frog-spawn, ground of dark blue, sustaining finely modelled sprays of flowers and butterflies in relief, all of which are in a European sur-decor of low fire enamels, probably Dutch ; the panels are filled with groups of figures of a domestic nature in the enamels of Kien-lung.

Height, 11 inches.

483 LAMP VASE.

Persian faience, turquoise crackle.

Height, $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

484 VASE.

Ovoid, with short, wide neck, eggshell paste, with an elaborate decoration in fine transparent and opaque enamels of a landscape with towering mountains, a temple, a sacred pagoda, an arbor by a river, groves, and flowering trees; Kien-lung.

Height, 11 inches.

485 VASE.

Chinese amber colored glass. Engraved mark in the foot: Kien-lung-nien-chi.

Height, 11 inches.

486 OVOID VASE.

Eggshell porcelain with elaborate decoration of figures and landscapes in reserves separated by gold filigree ornament.

Height, 9 inches.

487 HAWTHORN JAR.

With cover. Blue and white of K'ang-hsi.

Height, $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

488 EGGSHELL LANTERN.

With elaborate design in fine transparent enamel of Yung-chêng. A landscape with various personages and what might be the Chinese conception of the Nemean lion, and also the Chinese idea of Hercules with wondrous muscles, a bald forehead, long flowing, curly locks, and breeches in the fashion of our Dutch ancestors. The decoration is Chinese in all essentials, but is curiously pervaded with materials drawn from European originals.

Height, 10 inches.

489 EGG SHELL LANTERN.

Companion to the preceding. Another decoration in which the original European motive struggles vainly for expression through the Chinese handiwork.

Height, 10 inches.

490 EGG SHELL LANTERN.

Decoration of landscape, with figures in pale transparent enamels.

Height, 10 inches.

491 VASE.

Wide neck, pale rose enamel with decoration of floral motive, sustaining two reserves, each containing landscape with figures.

Height, 14 inches.

492 PAIR CANTON SEMI-EGG SHELL VASES.

With groundwork of gold diaper sustaining floral decoration modelled in high relief, and two reserves, containing elaborate designs—buildings and spaces numerously peopled.

Height, 16 inches.

493 DEEP CORAL-RED VASE.

With chimæra-head handles and decoration of dispersed flowers in gold. Beneath the foot, seal mark Kien-lung.

Height, 19½ inches.

494 EGGSHELL BOWL.

Of translucent white porcelain, with indented rim. A delicate and beautifully drawn decoration is embodied in the thin paste, and is visible only in the sunlight or when the bowl is filled with a colored fluid. In the bottom is the mark, in antique seal script, of Yung-lo-nien-chi, 1408-1425.

Diameter, 8 inches.

495 SMALL OVOID VASE.

With short neck and three bosses on the shoulder; of fine brilliant white porcelain, decorated with a beautifully drawn design of bamboos and roses, painted with the most delicate transparent enamels. This little vase has long been known to amateurs of Oriental porcelain as the most beautiful example of its class. In paste, in the quality of the enamels, and in the beauty of the composition it is without an equal. Mark on the foot, Kien-lung-nien-chi.

Height, 6½ inches.

496 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

Of rose soufflé of the greatest delicacy and purity of color, invested upon a body of fine white porcelain. Like the preceding vase this is unique in its class. None other in the Rose family approaches it, and it has long been known as the unrivalled example. Beneath, in coral-red, the seal-mark of Kien-lung.

Height, 9½ inches.

497 VASE.

Ovoid body, with spreading foot and expanding mouth; invested with a coral-red glaze of great fineness, evenness, and beauty of tone. Considered from the point of view of color first, shape next, and fineness of material third, this piece of coral has no competitor.

Height, 8 inches.

498 VASE.

Ovoid fluted body, slender neck, and flaring mouth ; invested within and without in a glaze intended to imitate the tint of the ripening peach ; where the fluted, Greek-like ornament occurs, the glaze fills the interstices with a richer and deeper hue. This is one of the most prized shapes among the beautiful and infrequent vases of the peach family ; and in point of color and flawlessness it has, perhaps, no equal. It is known to every collector in the world as the finest example in its own class. Mark on foot, Ta-Tsing-K'ang-hsi-nien-chi, 1662-1721.

Height, 8½ inches.

499 WRITER'S WATER JAR.

In beautifully varied peach tint. On the foot six-character mark of K'ang-hsi.

Diameter, 5 inches.

500 Companion to the foregoing, but with three disks of incised floral motive, beautifully drawn in the paste.

Diameter, 5 inches.

501 VASE.

Ovoid body, with fluted ornament and slender neck terminating in metallic restoration. The glaze is of a deep peach tint, evenly and beautifully distributed. On the foot a six-character mark of K'ang-hsi.

Height, 8 inches.

502 WRITER'S WATER BOTTLE.

With three disks of floral ornament modelled in relief beneath a pale-yellow transparent glaze. On the foot a six-character mark of K'ang-hsi.

Diameter, 5 inches.

503 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

Covered with elaborately and beautifully modelled design of dragons pursuing fire emblems across the firmament amid cloud shapes, the whole beneath a brilliant, transparent, iridescent purple glaze.

Height, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

504 BOWL.

Fine gray glaze, invested with a network of minute crackle.

Diameter, 7 inches.

505 BOTTLE.

With long, slender neck; invested with a brilliant coral-red glaze of great depth of color and even distribution, on which are faintly discernible the lines of a graceful and elaborate decoration originally executed in gold.

Height, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

506 VASE.

Ovoid body, with slender flaring neck. Beautiful glaze of gray lavender.

Height, $6\frac{1}{4}$ inches.

507 PALE LAVENDER BOWL.

With inturned shoulder and depressed mouth. On the foot a six-character mark of K'ang-hsi.

Height, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

508 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

With flaring mouth; completely invested in fine opaque yellow glaze with minute crackle.

Height, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

509 SMALL OVICID VASE.

With chrysanthemum decoration in the paste in low relief, beneath a brilliant white glaze.

Height, $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

510 SMALL DOUBLE VASE.

Bottle-shaped, with pale celadon glaze. On the foot four-character mark of Kien-lung.

Height, 5 inches.

511 VASE.

With chimæra handles and red crackle glaze.

Height, 6 inches.

512 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

With transparent yellow glaze. Beneath seal-mark of Tao-kouang.

Height, $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

513 VASE.

With chimæra handles and brilliant lavender glaze.

Height, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

514 VASE.

Beautiful glaze of dark-red rose soufflé.

Height, 6 inches.

515 VASE.

Ovoid, with fluted handles. Celadon, with large gray crackle.

Height, 6 inches.

516 CORAL-RED VASE.

With wide, expanding neck.

Height, 6 inches.

517 DOUBLE GOURD.

Invested with a rich yellow tea glaze.

Height, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

518 QUADRUPLE VASE.

With four rudimentary chimæra-head handles; invested with a rich lavender glaze; on the four feet, one character to each, the mark, Kien-lung-nien-chi.

Height, 6 inches.

519 BOWL.

Rich flambé glaze.

Diameter, 5 inches.

520 OVOID BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

Mirror-black glaze.

Height, 8 inches.

521 DOUBLE QUADRILATERAL VASE.

Pale pistache-green.

Height, 9½ inches.

525 GLOBULAR VASE.

In transparent imperial yellow glaze.

Diameter, 7½ inches.

526 VASE.

Fine iridescent green glaze over decoration of landscape in black.

Height, 7½ inches.

527 BOTTLE-SHAPED FLATTENED VASE.

With rich red flambé glaze. Beneath seal-mark of Kien-lung.

Height, 9 inches.

528 OVOID VASE.

With trumpet neck. Delicate glaze of fine powder blue.

Height, 10 inches.

529 VASE.

With broad shoulder and short neck ;
transparent red glaze on fine white, dense porcelain body.

Height, 10 inches.

530 CORNET OR SLENDER BEAKER.

With modelled ornament of palm leaves beneath fine turquoise-blue crackle.

Height, 11 inches.

531 VASE.

Lovely

Ovoid body, with wide neck and flaring rim ; incised decoration of storks flying among cloud forms above a turbulent sea, the whole invested with a rich transparent glaze of imperial yellow.

Height, 11 inches.

532 BOTTLE-SHAPED VASE.

Hammy

Fine green transparent enamel, super-posed upon an under-glaze of red. Mark beneath, Ta-Ming-Hsüan-te-nien-chi.

Seashore

This marine view by the great realistic painter includes but two elements, the sea and the sky, for the crashing breakers with their white crests are falling close in the foreground of the picture. The wild rain-swept sky occupies the upper half of the canvas and a vessel is dimly seen scudding along in the middle distance on the right. Intensity and singleness of artistic purpose are concentrated in the representation of this stormy phase of nature, and the effect is depicted with power and simplicity. The characteristic deep greens and mineral grays of the painter appear in the color scheme, and the general aspect of the canvas is forceful and convincing.

Sheep in the Forest

In this picture by the great French painter of sheep the grandeur of the landscape should be specially mentioned. While the sheep, as in most of Jacque's compositions, form the subject of the picture, the landscape is in itself so fine and so complete as to make the picture a notable example of the best work of the artist. On the left of a road leading from the foreground is such pasture, rocky and sparse, as sheep delight to feed on, and here they are seen nibbling the herbage while their shepherd stands among the mass of the flock in the roadway, and farther off, under the branches of the trees, other groups of the picturesque animals appear in silhouette against the gray expanse of a river which flows peacefully past the forest. The great trees on the right of the composition are carefully studied and broadly painted with great truth of observation and full understanding of unity of effect. The tone of the entire canvas is rich, but clear and atmospheric. It is one of those pictures that have made for Jacque his high reputation, and such an example as is very rarely met with at the present day.

ZIEM

(Félix)

Born at Beaune, France, 1821

No. 588Une Fête à Venise

An imposing and beautiful canvas in the best style of the celebrated painter of scenes in Venice. The composition presents the passing of the State barge, the magnificent "Bucintoro," which carried the Doge and his suite in the ceremonial celebrating the marriage of Venice and the Adriatic by throwing a ring into the sea. In the left foreground are the quays crowded with people in holiday attire. The white-and-gold vessel, with its great sails bellying out, its streamers fluttering and the great red banner flying from the masthead, in its triumphant passage preceded and followed by gondolas, occupies the centre of the picture. On either side in the distance appears the distant architecture of the city, with its well-known domes and towers. The white smoke of a saluting cannon envelops the stern of the barge, and over all gleams the radiant blue sky which is reflected in the surface of the shining water. The picture is remarkable for possessing a singularly harmonious and simple color scheme in the depiction of so gay and variegated an assemblage of elements, and for its fine decorative aspect.

On the River Oise

The range and variety of subject in Daubigny's landscapes is limited only by the changes in the face of nature herself. In this picture an effect of gray weather is interpreted with all the sterling qualities of his art. The river in the foreground, with the bank rising on the right, and the opposite shore covered with trees, are the principal elements of the composition. The hour is that of sunset, and in the troubled sky of gray a bit of warm light appears at the horizon. One tall tree on the hill back of the distant river bank rises high above its companions and shows against the sky with dramatic effect. The picture is so full of atmosphere, so sincere, so telling, and so poetic in its honest rendering of natural beauty that it evokes the sympathy of every spectator who is susceptible to the charm of nature. Its masterly execution, full, reserved color, and its beautiful harmonious tone endear it to the artist.

The Harvest Field

This master of landscape painting, whose analytical knowledge surpassed that possessed by any other, is here seen in a picture inclining to synthetic treatment. His profound understanding of the forms of nature, even to the smallest details, underlies all his work, and "effect" is never sought for in his pictures without first obtaining structural completeness. In this instance, where a harvest field occupies the plain in the foreground, with peasants loading a cart—and masses of trees and windbreaks are seen in the middle distance—detail is truthfully presented throughout, while the warm afternoon light of the sun strikes downward from behind a cloud curtain of gray enveloping the landscape in a beautiful atmospheric glow. The gray and warm yellowish white of the sky, the bluish gray of the masses of foliage, and the tawny tints of the harvest field form a fine color harmony. This picture, with its original composition and reserved and puissant color scheme, is a landscape to be counted only in the category of Rousseau's most distinguished works.

The Turkey Herder

A Winter Pastoral of transcendent virility and true sentiment, by the great poet-painter of peasant life. The "Gardeuse des Dindons" stands enveloped in her cloak and hood under a magnificent sky of rich, sober tone as impressive in effect as the rumbling bass of a great pipe organ. The ground where she stands slopes upward, and beyond there is a distant prospect illumined by a patch of feeble sunshine. Some of the turkeys on the higher ground appear in silhouette against the sky and others are in the foreground about the keeper. The bare limbs of a tree and a high stack of fagots are the other elements that in this powerful picture portray the aspect of the barren season and intensify the effect of poetic isolation in the country life. The personal note of Millet's genius is preëminently shown here in composition, color, and general treatment, and the picture is a fitting companion to such works as the "Peasant Leaning on his Hoe," or "The Sower." "The Turkey Herder" was shown at the Barye Exhibition, and, like "La Danse des Amours," was one of the great stars of that famous assemblage of masterpieces.

COROT

(Jean Baptiste Camille)

1796—1875

No. 592

La Danse des Amours

sally conceded to be one of the most complete and most poetical of all his capital works.
